

E-Learning

I can create bespoke e-learnings specifically for your business or personal needs.

The e-learnings can contain text and images, videos, photos, official documents/ policies, voice over, and any other source of media that you would like.

I will liaise with you to discuss what will work best for you and your business or your personal requirements.

I ensure that all of the e-learning I produce are highly interactive and engaging, with imagery and questions/ activities or quizzes throughout the videos.

Below are some examples of videos I create for 13-14 years olds, to form part of a youth week away with their school. They were working on some key areas of personal development throughout the week and all had to watch each e-learning and complete the tasks set throughout the e-learning. Due to the age of the audience, the e-learnings below are highly visual to enhance engagement and focus, however future e-learnings I create will look different as they will be tailored to the specific audience.
